CITY STATE FEUD OVER LOCAL TRAFFIC ISLANDS

WOE FOR TAXPAYERS - - BILLS OUT IN NOVEMBER

Woe to Daly City residents, in the form of city tax bills for the 1953-54 fiscal years, will be in the mails November 1, the city clerk's office announced this week.

An all-time high assessed valuation for the area, $21,062,175, will bring an estimated tax revenue of $290,668.20 into the city coffers. The city tax rate, $1.38 per $100 assessed valuation, remains the same this year.

This year's valuation was nearly $3,000,000 above the 1952-53 figure of $18,434,790, which brought in $253,472 in tax money.

A breakdown of this year's property values showed: General property, $18,649,705; unsecured personal property, $1,345,240; and public utilities, $1,067,230.

Largest jump over the previous year came in the general property classification, which was evaluated at $16,307,145 the previous year. Utility property went up from $1,026,360, an increase of slightly more than $200,000 over last year's $1,101,285 figure.

First installment on City taxes will become due November 1 and will become delinquent December 10. Second installment becomes delinquent April 20.

THE TOWN RECORD

By MONTE DAYTON

It's going to be a little difficult for a Broadmoor police reserve officer to put his heart into safe driving sermons.

A recent report by the state dept. of motor vehicles shows that Broadmoor Reserve Officer RALPH CAPPOLA, 415 88th street, has had his driver's license revoked.

Broadmoor chief RAY SAVAGE wonders, whatsitallabout.

Baseball bonus-babe ED CEREGHINO has a bonus baby of his own. Born Friday night at Sequoia hospital to Mrs. C. was an 8 lb. daughter, LINDA JEAN.

Paternal grandfolks are MR. and MRS. E. J. CEREGHINO, 412 Willits street.

Getting in on the grandparents act from the new mother's side are MR. and MRS. F. D. SCHREIBER, 33 Knowles.

For the Schreibers, this makes No. 9 grandchild, three of which were acquired in the last week. The wife of their son, DEAN, had twins last week in Sacramento.

Another twin bill surprise: The MAX WOLF family of 49 Belmont drive was increased by two recently.

The new Wolfs at the door are ROCHELLE LYNN and ROBERT ALAN, still in the hospital, but doing well.

This double birth had the added advantage of keeping the whole family satisfied.

Papa Wolf wanted a boy, their daubhter, PAMELA, 3, wanted a baby sister.

Mrs. W. did the impossible and filled both orders. As for herself . . . she's just doggone happy about the whole thing.

The wandering AXEL LUNN family (he's made several trips through this column) hit the jackpot last weekend.

Brothers AXEL JR. and ERIC hit out for the Lassen country and came back with a couple of bucks (on the hoof).

Axel brought down a respectable deer and, shortly after he fired the lethal shot, spotted another. He hollered for brother Eric, who responded post haste and dispatched the animal forthwith, making a nice larder of fresh venison for the Lunns.

Post Script: Don't be insulted if your name never appears in this column. The only reason I get mine in every week is I write the darned thing.

Kiddingaside, if you've got miscellaneous bits of trivia and nonsense that you'd like to have glorified by the medium of newsprint, give me a ring.

Can't guarantee a thing, but if I know about an incident, it does help in writing it.

PAINTER BRUSHES WITH LAW

The Ed Dugan Story

Edward Francis William Dugan, 53, a San Francisco painter who last May entered a legal tussle with Kirchhubel's tavern for "defaming his character," moved his attack down the street a few steps Saturday evening and as a result he will appear in Judge Thomas L. Bocci's court Tuesday on charges of disturbing the peace and being drunk in a public place.

According to Vince Merlo of Vince and Fred's Cavern, 6278 Mission street, Dugan entered the establishment and began directing profane language at him in the presence of customers.

Merlo said he ordered Dugan out, whereupon he continued his verbal barrage.

Merlo called police and Dugan was picked up several hours later by Officer Phillip La Bruzzo and released on $100 bond.

In May of last year Dugan filed an unsuccessful $20,000 damage suit against George Kirchhubel, owner of a tavern a few doors south of Vince & Fred's, for posting a "defamatory picture" of him.

The picture, a photograph taken at the bar in 1951, showed Dugan sitting at the bar with head in a reclining position, his body in a relaxed state, and a high ball held in his hand.

It was mounted on a quarter card and placed high on the wall in back of the bar. Underneath the picture was a caption reading, "Vote for Ed 'Honest John' Dugan." Below this were the words, "Alert! Wide awake! Get on the job with Dugan."

Dugan said this damaged his reputation and subjected him to ridicule from his friends.

Frank Blum, local city attorney and lawyer for Kirchhubel in the case, proved otherwise and the verdict went against Dugan.

His more recent dealings with the law will be resolved Tuesday.

INSURANCE PLAN FOR STUDENTS IS APPROVED

A total of 2500 Jefferson Elementary district students have subscribed to the blanket insurance policy offered by the Washington National Insurance company of Evanston, Ill.

The plan, which costs $1 per student per annum, was made retroactive to October 1.

It covers children at, on the way and from school, and provides hospital services up to $1500, dental and medical services and contains an accidental death clause.

The plan, which was used "with success" in Redwood City schools last year, operates on a year-to-year basis, according to H. Z. Weibel, district superintendent.

"Many favorable comments" on the plan have been heard, Weibel said.

The insurance firm had at first stipulated that at least 75 per cent of the Jefferson students must subscribe to make the policy effective. However, later they said the 2500 figure was sufficient to warrant issuance of the insurance.

Local Man Charged With Shop-Lifting

Vern Jack Morton, 40, will enter his plea in Judge Thomas L. Bocci's Municipal court Tuesday to charges that he took a 58-cent wedge of Roquefort cheese from the Hilltop Market without paying for it.

George Glass, proprietor of the store, said he saw Morton take the cheese Sunday afternoon, place it in his pocket, and leave the building.

Morton's attorney appeared in muni court Tuesday and asked that his client be allowed to postpone his plea until next week.

FIREHOUSE BIDS ARE IN

Council Holds Eight Over For Advisement

A total of eight bids for Daly City's new firehouse to be located in the Westlake area were opened at an adjourned meeting of the city council Monday night and held over for advisement.

Low bid on the proposed elaborate fire-fighting station to be located off Lake Merced and Alemany boulevards was $76,950, submitted by the W. A. Monroney firm.

Architect Louis Baldini had estimated cost of the firehouse at $70,000.

However, according to Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy, original estimates called for wood-frame construction and did not specify a basement in the drill tower. It was later decided that the city would profit by using concrete frame and installing the basement, accounting for the slight increase in costs.

Kennedy said he probably would recommend that the contract be awarded Monroney, the low bidder.

Their bid includes alternate specifications amounting to $2610. Listed as alternates were: paving drill-yard area, $1760; aluminum sash instead of steel, $59; and radiant heat in place of blower-type furnace, $800.

Highest figure entered was that of the Alfred P. Fisher company, $95,216.00.

The city has 15 days in which to name the contract winner.

Other bids submitted were: B. L. Giusto, $84,700; Carrico & Gautier, $81,884; George B. Green, $81,939; Joseph Bettancourt, $89,777; Hart & Hynding, $82,341; Thomas W. Lisota, $83,733.

Jeff High Teachers Will Visit County Welfare Facilities

Teachers of Jefferson Union High school will visit the county juvenile hall in Belmont and the new health and welfare facilities in San Mateo November 25, in an attempt to acquaint themselves more thoroughly with the county social welfare services.

The November date was formerly given over to the county teachers' institute. However, the teachers have begun working more closely every year with the welfare agencies.

The visit will be a part of the "in-service training" program being developed at the school, by the teachers, for their own professional growth.

Since there will be no formal classes held at Jefferson on that day, the students will be able to add a day to their Thanksgiving holiday.

The committee of teachers planning these activities includes John Ivan, Miss Barbara Schmidt, Miss Ada Wood, and vice-principal John Mongan.

Minor Fire Claims Two Household Items

A snuffed-out pilot light was indirectly the cause of a minor fire Wednesday night at 57 Shakespeare street.

Firemen said that Mrs. R. Toohy, who resides there with her husband, attempted to light the pilot by dropping a burning paper down the furnace.

The paper went on through to the basement, igniting a mattress and a chesterfield and by the time Companies No. 1, 2 and 4 arrived, the fire had consumed the two items.

Exact value of property damaged was not given.

Rec Department To Offer 8 Halloween Parties For Youth

Eight gala Halloween parties have been planned by the Daly City recreation department with the local PTA's and Mother's clubs.

Plans are just complete for parties at Castle hall, Bellevue hall, Grace Presbyterian church hall, Woodrow Wilson multi-use room, Garden Village multi-use room, OLPH hall and annex and community center. Youngsters are invited to attend the party closest to their home and the teenagers are invited to attend a record party at the community center with the help of the Misbe-Haven club.

The last organizational meeting at the community center decided the decorations, prizes and food. The meeting was attended by James Mason and Edward Mosconi of the recreation department and Mrs. Mary Larson, Mrs. Mary Thiebant, Mrs. Catherine Ricci, Mrs. Frieda Farber, Ray Logan, Mrs. Sanford Vickers, Mrs. Ray Foster, Mrs. Otis Simonsen, Mrs. Marguerite Ashton, Mrs. Edw. Dennis and Mrs. A. Eason of the various PTA's and Mother's clubs of Daly City.

A final meeting is scheduled for October 28 at the community center to iron out the final details of the parties.

Traffic Safety Check Tonight On Mission St.

A traffic safety check will be held in Daly City tonight (Friday) from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Local officers will hold the check for northbound traffic on Mission street near the community center.

Officer Henry Sundermann is in charge of the check, assisted by members of the regular and auxiliary force.

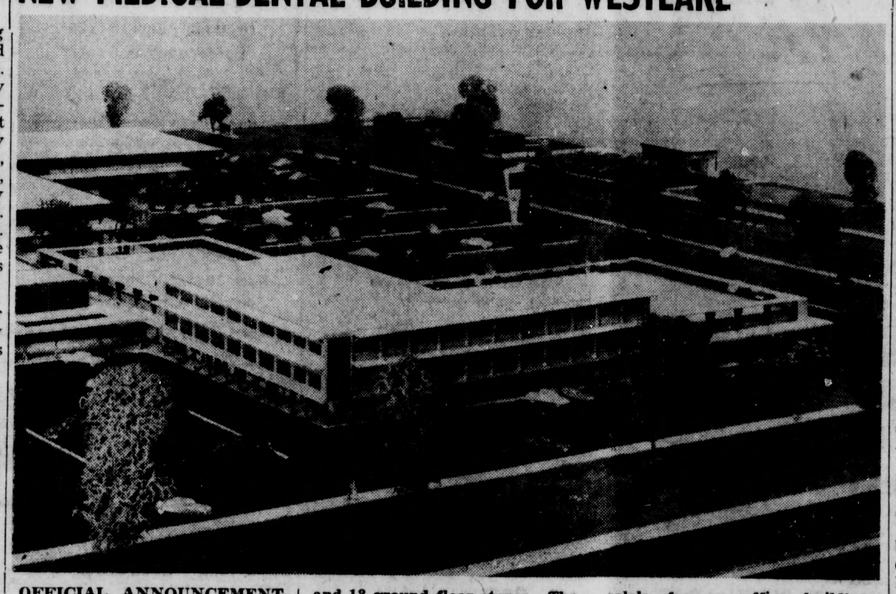
JEFF HIGH YOUTH IS MISSING FROM HOME

A 15-year-old Jefferson high school with a yen for the land south of the border has been missing since last Friday, his mother reported this week.

Carl William Miller, son of Harriet Miller, 639 Templeton avenue, left home last week with $10 in his pocket and said he and a friend, Joe Ramero, of San Francisco, were going to Mexico.

No word of his whereabouts has been reported as yet.

NEW MEDICAL-DENTAL BUILDING FOR WESTLAKE



OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT of construction plans for this modernistic three-story medical-dental building was made today by the Doelger company. In its 45,000 square feet, the building will contain 48 suites for offices, and 13 ground floor stores. The structure is a key part in the company's new expansion plan, which will eventually double facilities in the Westlake Shopping Center. The present medical-dental structure will be used solely for an office building. Work is scheduled to begin within a month and the project will be completed in mid-1954, the Doelger firm disclosed. Architect is Lloyd Gartner.

DC Planners Veto District Set-up For Off-Street Parking

The Daly City planning commission Monday night vetoed the Chamber of Commerce's plan for establishment of an assessment district to beat the parking problem, and recommended that the "merchants undertake a solution on their own."

The commission, after examination of the parking survey compiled recently by the Chamber, was in complete agreement that off-street parking should be obtained, but was against city-wide assesment to finance the project.

The council has requested a recommendation from the commission on the parking situation. Sanford Vickers, planners secretary, said the group would need further study before making a final conclusion, however.

The commission voted Monday to change their regular meeting date to the second Tuesday of each month instead of the first Monday.

Approved by the commission were: Applications from Theresa Altierei to rezone property on Alemany street from R-2 to C-1; application from the Doelger company to extend the light commercial zone on Junipero Serra boulevard into the Westlake subdivision No. 5.

The commission considered the Jefferson Elementary School district's proposed acquisition of land for two school sites in Westlake and request for property for a school yard on Alemany street.

It was not determined what jurisdiction the commission had on these school matters, Vickers said, and the matter was held over for further investigation.

MAJORITY LAND FOR NEW SCHOOL SITE ACQUIRED

All but two parcels of property for the proposed Vista Grande school site have been acquired, H. Z. Weibel, Jefferson Elementary district superintendent announced this week.

Seven parcels have already been purchased at a cost in the neighborhood of $60,000, for approximately three acres of land.

The school will be situated at Thiers, Wyandotte and Lausanne streets. A portion of Lausanne will be closed on completion of the school.

Plans for the school are now in process of completion, and bids will be called about next March, Weibel said.

It was also announced this week that work on the Crocker multi-use room is scheduled for February, since land for the project has been acquired.

Nine New Fire Boxes Installed At Westlake

Nine new fire alarm boxes have been added to the Westlake subdivision No. 5, Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy announced this week.

This brings the total to nearly 70 alarm boxes in the Westlake area.

The fire warning devices are hooked up with all local fire stations and the police department.

COUNCIL SAYS SET-UP WILL SNARL TRAFFIC

A battle between Daly City and the state highway department over construction details of a Mission street traffic island went all the way to Governor Goodwin Knight this week and the outcome may rest in his hands.

Daly City's council met Monday night to pass a resolution granting approval for the state to go ahead with the construction of 1.4 miles of traffic island on San Jose avenue and Mission street (the state opened bids for the project October 7, but haven't granted the contract as yet).

But the state's plans call for only two "duck-ins"—layovers for traffic making left turns—and the council maintained there should be duck-ins at every intersection.

As it now stands, the highway department will install the left-turn sections for northbound traffic on School street and Knowles avenue. At the same time they wish to eliminate parking at the curb for an area of one block in the vicinity of the duck-ins. The council also believes this measure drastic in view of the crippling parking problem already present.

Actually, the state does not need approval from the city to go ahead with the work, since El Camino is a state highway, but usually the procedure is to receive local sanction, City Administrator Dan Andersen said.

Mayor Anthony Gaggero went straight to Governor Knight Wednesday and told him of the city's plight. According to the mayor, lack of duck-ins at every intersection for left turn traffic will pile up traffic for blocks wherever a motorist makes a turn.

Knight said that if necessary he would get the director of highways down here and settle the hassel.

A. L. Weymouth, district engineer for the state, indicated that they would go ahead with the island with or without the city's sayso.

But, in view of the governor's interest in the problem, Andersen predicted the highway department would hold off for a while.

At 1 p.m. yesterday (Thursday) Andersen was still attempting to contact Weymouth in order that a meeting might be called to iron out the difficulties.

The traffic island plan has been beset with hard feelings since the state embarked on the project without notifying any city officials of their action.

Purse Snatcher On Loose; Gets $27 From Local Woman

The first successful purse-snatch case in Daly City for several months was pulled Monday, with the victim losing property valued at $27.

Mrs. Mildred Kirk, 460 Bellevue, reported that she was at the corner of Acton and Winchester streets Monday night at 9 p.m. when a man in blue denim coat and pants rushed from across the street and pulled her purse from her hand, threw her to the sidewalk and fled down the street.

Officers Gerald Schaeffer and Art Linhares responded, where they interviewed an eye witness, Ed Tetter, of 182 Winchester street.

Tetter said he heard a scream and when he went outside saw the suspect running down the street. He was described by Tetter as a middle-aged man.

Mrs. Kirk said the handbag stolen was worth $20 and contained $7 in cash. Also in the purse was an unsigned check for $50.27 made out to Mrs. Kirk.

DC PERSONNEL WILL ATTEND LIBRARY MEET

Daly City library commission will send four representatives to the California Library Association in Sockton November 12 and 13, it was announced yesterday.

Those attending will be Mrs. Margo Westgard, secretary of the commission, Mrs. Maude Hanselman, member, Lorraine Rollandi, librarian, and Mrs. Rose Plummer, library employee.

The local group will be concerned with adoption of suitable library standards for Daly City, through consultation with other library personnel.

Henry Sundermann Sr., president of the commission, said, "We will seek to bring the local library up to the standards of others in cities of comparable size."

The commission head also announced this week that the revamping of the local library, to double its capacity, will begin October 28, 29 and 30.

He said the change would have to be gradual, so as not to disrupt the reading public during the progress of the work.

Word Received From Assistant Postmaster

Quick action on the part of the U. S. post office department in working for a separate branch here was reported this week by Peter J. Markovich.

Markovich received the following letter from John C. Allen, Assistant Postmaster General:

"I, indeed, enioyed meeting you while in Daly City recently and I want to assure you the matter discussed in your letter is being presented by me to the Postmaster General."

Markovich represented the Chamber of Commerce on Allen's recent visit here to survey post office needs in Daly City.

Mrs. Sanford Vickers, city chairman, urged that local residents give where they live to the workers who will call at their home. A lump sum may be given or the donor may sign a pledge card for installment contributions.

Business and professional chairman, Peter Markovich, stated at the "kick-off" luncheon at the Lake Merced Golf and Country Club Tuesday that the campaign so far is going well and that $1800 has been raised so far towards the goal of $11,829 of the Daly City-Colma United Crusade.

JEFF THESPIANS PLAN COMEDY IN THE ROUND

"Best Foot Forward," a hilarious comedy about teen-agers, has been chosen for Jefferson Union High school's fall play, to be presented on November 12 and 13 in the high school auditorium.

Because it has been so well received before, Miss Eunice Seaton, director, has chosen to do this comedy "in the round." The "in the round" mode of presentation calls for the acting area to be located in the center of the theater, with the seats surrounding it. According to Miss Seaton, this seating arrangement insures perfect vision and hearing for all those present.

The play is a rollicking comedy about a boarding school and how one of the boys invites a movie star to the annual senior prom without the principal's permission, and goes on to show what transpires after she accepts the invitation.

The play has been cast and is now in rehearsal.

Members of the cast are: Ronnie Christensen, Tony Tapia, Bruce Frieland, Thelma Hobbs, Jo Ann Gordohn, Cecile Stickney, Muriel Fern, Jay Webster, Ray Navarra, Bob Bridges, Pete Jensen, Vivien Wedgwood, Roberta Taylor, Helene Cova, Paul Suaraglia and Art Gamon.

Publicity is being handled by Muriel Fern, tickets by Joan Salmon and Judy Johnstone and Lynne Painter is the student director.

DC Is Lowest In Traffic Fatalities

Daly City tied for first place among 407 cities in the same population group for the least number of accident fatalities for 1952.

In a report compiled by the National Safety council and delivered to local city officials yesterday by Highway Patrolman Captain Howard Anborn, Daly City ranked 122, just shy of the top quarter, in all accident categories.

No fatalities occurred in Daly City in 1952.

Other recommendations made by the National Safety council were: Thirty five per cent of one man's time should be devoted to traffic engineering, surveys and investigations.

Four additional police officers are needed to match overall police strength of leading cities in the 10,000 to 25,000 population group.

The first commemorative postage stamp issued in the United States honored the Columbian Exposition at Chicago and was the first to picture a woman—Queen Isabella of Spain.

WESTLAKE SCHOOL NEWS

Mrs. Schober, Teacher

The fourth grade at Westlake school has begun their study of early California. Right now they are particularly interested in early Indian life. They are beginning to understand how the early Indian people lived in California using the things that were provided by nature for their food, clothing and shelter. This has been a particularly interesting study to the children as they have on display several authentic Indian baskets and other articles of special value. These baskets were made by the Yurok Indian tribe of northern California. As this study progresses, the children will see how and why the early Spanish explorers came to California from Mexico. They will follow the establishment of the missions by the early padres and see the exciting story of the growth of California to a state in the Union. So far, the children have written several fine stories of early Indian life and illustrated each of them. These stories, together with other class projects, will be incorporated into individual notebooks for each child.

Right now, the children are interested in a wall mural that is developing for Halloween. In this, each child will have a part in constructing the whole picture. In this way, we have a fine room decoration, and everyone has had a special part in its completion.

The class in room 9 has had several new pupils this year. There are Mary Varden, Barbara Desmond, Charlotte McKee, Laury Jaspovice, Patty Hines and Marshall Rawson from San Francisco; Timothy Baylor from Virginia; and Bruce McClellan from Oakland.

In arithmetic special emphasis is being put on a review of the simpler multiplication tables. Before the year is over a complete study will be made of all the multiplication and division facts.

Miss Paynter, Teacher

The third grade in room 10 is studying about the Indians of the Southwestern part of the United States. The children are making a Pueblo village out of clay. For Columbus Day, the class made a chalk mural showing Columbus discovering America.

The fourth grade is studying about early California Indians. The children are making folders to keep their pictures and papers about Indians together. The boys and girls have four teams for Kickball and are having a contest to see which teams are champions.

Mrs. Lewis, Teacher

Room 7 welcomed several new students to their room this term. Luanne Seelig, Marilyn Mudrick, Laurel Kimbrell, Lynn Mountanos and Daniel Basora are the new students.

The third grade have begun studying about the Indians of the Southwest. Everyone is very excited about this unit and is bringing in many interesting collections. Jack Hagopian, Donald Green, Mark Mitchell, Barbara Epstein, Bennie Woodruff, Patricia Hayes, Bonnie Meck, Harriet Nuestadt, Leslie Mertens, Cheryl McKenney, Pamela Altman and Brian Gardner have already brought in drums, pictures, beads, Kachina dolls and maps about the Pueblo Indians.

Mrs. Beber, Teacher

We have eight pupils that are new to the Westlake school this year. Janet Volkman went to the Sagami Hari school in Japan last year. She has many interesting things to tell us.

In social studies, we are learning about the Pueblo Indians. We have been busy this past week writing stories about the homes of these Indians and drawing pictures of the Pueblos. We have an Indian display table. Several children have brought Indian objects to share with the class. Jean Shea brought a real Indian drum. Claudia Geno brought Indian moccassins and Jerrene Dowd and Carol Ann Kirchman have Indian dolls. Sharon Sylvester's mother has visited these Indians of the Southwest and she is going to show slides that she has taken.

EXPLAINING THE CRUSADE

In San Mateo county, most of the United Crusade funds come from a residential solicitation. In planning for our Crusade and for the Bay Area Federation of the Crusades, it has always been understood that San Mateo county would be one of those which conducted a full-scale residential solicitation. It was on this basis that the San Mateo County Chapter of the Red Cross was willing to become a joint participant in the Crusade, since they are anxious that every home owner in the area covered by that chapter shall have an opportunity to have a local Red Cross membership.

Also there is a story to be told. Every householder should learn of the benefits which the agencies represented by the San Mateo County United Crusade are actually giving to the members of that household. This home-centered San Mateo county story is not told when a worker is solicited at his place of employment in a county other than San Mateo. Every donor should realize that his gift goes to services received right here in San Mateo county.

All Crusade recognize that through giving at the place of employment, gifts can be increased substantially by budgeting the pledges through payroll deductions or similar convenient arrangements. San Mateo therefore, encourages giving at the place of employment, and does not propose to resolicit at his home, any donor who has given where he worked.

COUNTY BOARD DISCOVERS SMOG

In an exclusive story nearly a year ago, THE RECORD pointed out, through Dr. Harold Chope, county health director, the drastic smog situation in this county.

Proof of the molasses in January pace of the county board of supervisors was shown this week when the board "feeling the threat of smog to the county's health and beauty," declared war on air pollution.

The word of such an authoritative source as a health director should have carried weight a year ago when the mal condition was brought to light.

Now that the supervisors have gotten literal wind of the problem, they're taking hold like they'd invented smog.

Supervisor Martin A. Poss stretched to Olympian heights of oratory this week when he said, "I'm absolutely in favor of ending this air pollution."

Supervisor William M. Werder of Redwood City threw in his unrelenting support: "The problem is pretty bad now, and it's obvious it's not going to get any better."

"We should start now and get our own back yards cleaned up," Supervisor Edward R. McDonald of Burlingame avowed majestically.

Chairman Alvin S. Hatch concurred with these weighty pearls of eloquence and said he would request the board later to "have the district attorney and the health department submit a workable plan for smog control."

What we'd like to know is why the supervisors didn't make themselves aware of the problem a year ago when it stunk just as bad as it does now, and when there were plenty of facts and odors floating around to substantiate existence of the condition.

But, anyway, public opinion has finally detonated the delayed action board and, as shown by their din and clamor to be first to comment on the condition, some visible effort to overcome the problem may be in the offing.

Safety News From Your Local Police

Careless crossing of highways is listed as the most frequent actions of pedestrians killed in traffic accidents outside of incorporated areas.

Too many pedestrians seem to forget that crossing a street or rural highway where fast moving cars are traveling is a hazardous move and calls for a lot of caution if it is to be done safely.

We must remember that a car traveling 55 miles an hour covers ground about 15 times faster than the average person does when walking.

You can't control the speed of the oncoming cars but you can be extra alert and look both ways carefully before crossing any roadway. Give yourself plenty of leeway and don't take chances.

The slogan "Wait a minute and save a life" is well worth practicing and could help you save you life.

TRUCK DRIVER'S LAMENT

It started in Moberly, Missouri. I was making a trip east by bus, not the most comfortable method of travel but one suited to my purse, when a large, expansive, nearly bald-headed man in rough clothes aboard.

He took an aisle seat directly behind me and immediately started a conversation with his seatmate.

"My name's Bill Dugger," he said. "Mind if I sit here? I like to sit in the back of a bus when I'm travelling. That way I don't have to watch the highway. I see too much of it in my business. 'Im a truck driver."

His voice was in keeping with his physique, a deep bass that carried easily to me and beyond. The man he was talking to was a soldier who was trying to get some sleep. The soldier mumbled assent.

"How do you like the service?" Bill Dugger asked and continued without waiting for an answer. "I was in it myself. Spent three years in Alaska."

I couldn't resist turning around and asking," Did you happen to hit a little island up there called Chernovski?"

I've ridden busses enough to know that if you start a conversation with a fellow passenger you take a chance of being stuck with a bore for the rest of the trip. But I too had been in Alaska during the last war, had spent some time in Chernovski, and had never forgotten the misery of the young national guardsmen who were stationed on that desolate hump of tundra.

"What's the name of that place again?" asked the truck driver.

"Chernovski," I said. "Out in the Aleutians, west of Dutch Harbor. I met a lot of nice guys up there early in the war and I've

My Mad World

By Leonore Brewer

The final performance of the opera found us in considerable better condition than we had anticipated. So much so that had someone offered an additional ten operas to the first thousand to subscribe, we would have unhesitatingly trampled several dozen of our neighbors in the rush to put our names on the list.

Such well-being always brings with it hunger for a light snack. We had the very place in mind, where we could find peppers saute, artichokes in olive oil and a very cold vegetable with oil and vinegar, all washed down with a suitable potable. The mouth-watering interval before service was spent chewing over the remains of still another season. At last the dishes were placed before us to be sampled in reverent silence. Delicious.

As we savored every bite the dissappointments of the season dwindled to tenth magnitude and we relived the great moments—the ear-shattering dissonances of "Elektra," the Chinese lantern scene in "Turandot," the incredible brevity of the first act of "Die Walkure." We even hummed a few bars of the love motif from the latter as we sopped up the last drop of oil and vinegar with a bit of bread. We gazed into our glass, it was empty. It was time to go home.

On the way home we thought of you and knew you would wonder where such tasty (and inexpensive) snacks could be found. Well, you might just as well stop slobbering on our column, because we're not going to tell you. Why should we? What do you ever tell us?

Have you ever told us of the night when Claudia Muzio opened the War Memorial Opera House as "Tosca"? Have you ever asked us to share your sorrow that of that glory all that is left is a painting, a few records and your memories? Have you ever told us of the one performance of "Norma," given in that same Opera House? Or have you ever told us about the time that a small opera company came West to a rip-snorthing, hell-raising town called San Francisco, and gave "Nabucco"? It wasn't so long ago—1886. Someone, somewhere, must remember it.

We thought of all the memories that you are selfishly hoarding and felt bitter toward you. We have shared ours with you, but there is only one of us, and there is so much that we have never heard. Then we recalled how relived memories gain strength, while those packed away become brittle. We thought of the day when too late you will open your boxes of memories, only to find that they have crumbled and are indistinguishable from one another.

We felt a smug satisfaction in knowing that it will serve you right.

This "Great Cause" Dedicated To Home, Child Care Service

Who can say how much tragedy and possible crime has been prevented because of the patient, understanding, day by day work of the trained personnel serving troubled humanity through Catholic Social Service, the Family Service Agency, the Home Service department of Red Cross and the Children's Home Society. Who can say how many thousands of dollars have been saved San Mateo county taxpayers because solved family problems have prevented broken homes, juvenile delinquency. These agencies know no race, color or creed, their job is to help humanity.

Catholic Social Service, whose displayed motto reads "Let all guests be received as Christ," carries out its program in three phases: Family counseling, child placement and aid to unwed mothers.

The Family Service Agency does much the same type of work, with family problems, both marital and concerning youngsters, making up the bulk of its cases.

Home Service of Red Cross, because of its U. S. Congressional charter obligations, deals with this same type of problem, but for families of servicemen and veterans. It also gives financial aid, where indicated. It refers other cases to the proper agency for help.

The Children's Home Society of California is the only privately operated state-wide adoption agency. In the past year, it has placed over a half dozen babies in San Mateo county homes.

All this good work is possible through contributions to the United Crusade, giving one, the United Way.

Weekly Story Hour

Beginning Tuesday afternoon at 3:45 p.m. there will be a story hour for boys and girls every week at the Daly City public library. The story hours will be under the direction and supervision of Mrs. Rose Plummer, children's librarian. The first story hour will consist of special Halloween tales. We hope to see our local boys and girls who are interested in hearing stories attend these story hours.

Plans are also under way to arrange special morning story hours for classes. Anyone interested in the story-hour program can get full details by contacting the library.

Association of Children's Librarians

At the last meeting of the Association of Children's Librarians, two staff members of the Daly City Public Library heard an informal address given by Mr. Rice, program director and manager for the new educational television program which will be viewed early next year. This new T. V. program will be designed to make doers out of viewers. Mr. Rice explained that the goal of the organizers of this new program was not to give viewers a formal education, but rather to stimulate their interest in the arts and sciences. The programs will be so varied as to tap the interests of a wide audience.

The new television station which will be called K.Q.E.D. will feature among others, such programs as arts and crafts, discussions in all the sciences, Shakespearean plays with puppets acting out the drama, accredited college courses, and special features for boys and girls. A point which Mr. Rice made which interested me very much regarding the T. V. college courses was that statistics have shown that average grades are 12 per cent higher from courses taken by T. V. than by courses taken in regular college classes. This seems to indicate that television is an effective educational media. When fully organized and developed, Station K.Q.E.D. promises to be one of the finest education stations in the bay area.

Following the regular book review session at the meeting of the Association of Children's Librarians, which was held at the San Francisco public library, many of the assembled librarians went to the Marina Junior High school to hear a lecture given by Mrs. Frances Clarke Sayers. Mrs. Sayers was superintendent of work with children in the New York public library, before she retired in 1952. She has also worked in the Library of Congress. She is now lecturing throughout the United States as a representative of F. E. Compton and Company. Mrs. Sayers, who is without a doubt an inspired lecturer, chose "The Hills Beyond" as the title of her discourse.

She emphasized the importance of leading boys and girls to the wonderful world of reading which waits for them in the "hills beyond" their own level of interest and knowledge. Librarians, teachers, and all those who are in a position to help and guide a child in his reading should act as the bridges which will assist the child in reaching the "hills beyond" according to Mrs. Sayers. The speaker's lecture was truly a beautiful one, and it was quite an honor to be able to be in the audience which she addressed. It was certainly an unforgettable experience.

California Library Association

On November 12-14, the California Library Association will hold its reading conference and annual meeting in Stockton, California. The conference, which will be on a workshop plan, has as its main purpose to discuss the unique and indispensable functions of reading for personal growth and the survival of our culture, to consider the problems connected with reading, the obstacles to reading, and the principal reading interests of various groups in our community. It is the hope of the participants in the conference to reach a better understanding of why people read, of why people do not read; to encourage more people to read more books for enjoyment and for profit; and to stimulate other reading conferences in communities throughout the state. The Daly City public library will be represented by two staff members at the conference.

Everyone . . . who shall confess me before men, him will I also confess before my Father who is in heaven. (Matthew 10:32. A.S.V.) Read Acts 5-27-32.

All passengers on a ship, so the story goes, had been ordered below because of a storm at sea. They became alarmed as the waves dashed over the vessel. At last, one of them crept up on deck and came to the pilot, who was faithfully and confidently doing his duty. The pilot saw the terror-stricken man and gave him a reassuring smile. The passenger then went below to comfort the others, saying, "I have seen the face of the pilot, and he smiled. All is well."

There is nothing so effective or so simple as an honest witness—telling what we have seen and heard, and witnessing in our lives to what the Lord has done for us. The power of the Holy Spirit makes us witnesses of Christ, able to confess Him boldly so that our confession honors Him and brings blessings to others and to ourselves. We have a glorious promise that those who confess Him here, He will confess before the Father at the day of judgment.

PRAYER

Work Thou in us, O Lord of life. By the power of Thy Holy Spirit, help us to be Thy faithful witnesses that men may see Thy light shining in our lives and find the way out of their darkness. For Thy name's sake. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The triumph of God is seen in those who love Christ and witness to Him.

(Southern Rhodesia)

How Can I?

Q. How can I "renovate" old and wrinkled potatoes?

A. Soak them in cold water for a half-hour before using, and then use them immediately. The water will cause the potatoes to swell up, making them fit to use.

Q. What can I do about an iron frying pan that has collected a lot of black deposit on it?

A. Try dipping it into gasoline, then taking it outdoors and setting a match to it, attaching the match to the end of a long stick. After the flame has died, scrub the pan with hot soapy water.

Q. How can I pack away a wool bathing suit and prevent any damage by moths, without resorting to sprays or flakes?

A. Wash it thoroughly and after completely dry, roll it up tightly and put it inside a clean quart-sized mason jar, and close tightly.

Q. How can I eliminate squeaks in woman's shoes?

A. Rubbing neats-foot oil or linseed oil into the sole usually helps. Another remedy is to punch two or three small holes into the sole just behnd the ball of the foot where the sole begins to curve up into the instep.

Q. How can I clean velour and other soft finishes of upholstery?

A. Apply dry-cleaning fluid with a piece of cheesecloth, and brush up the nap afterward with a soft brush.

Q. What can I do when my rubber plant starts to turn brown and lose its leaves?

A. This may be due to the presence of bugs in the soil, and these bugs may often be caused by too much water. To get rid of both, remove half the soil from the spot, replace it with fresh soil, and refrain from watering the plant for a week. After that, water it very sparingly.

A. Mix one-fourth cup of vinegar with a half-cup of water, dip a soft cloth into this, wring it out, and rub the furniture with it. Dry immediately with another soft cloth.

Q. How can I remove scorch stains from heavy woolen materials?

A. Wet the scorched area with water, sprinkle cornstarch over it, and rub cornstarch well in. When dry, brush the powder off.

Q. How can I make an attractive and efficient bath tub mat?

A. Tie a number of jar rubbers together with strong thread, letting them overlap to make the mat strong, and making rectangular in shape.

Q. How can I prevent a plastered wall from crumbling when driving a nail into it?

A. One of the easiest ways is first to paste a strip of transparent gummed tape over the spot and drive the nail through this. The tape can then be removed with no trouble.

YOUR NEIGHBORS AND MINE

By Betty Brush

Hello Neighbors:

Another week has passed and now we are into the last part of October which means that next week the goblins and ghosts will be out in full force. As is usual there have been lots of events happening among the neighbors. There being no time like the present, let's get on with the news.

Among the five hundred members of the Catholic Daughters of America who attended their annual Mass and Communion at St. Mary's Cathedral a week ago was MRS. MILTON WECKERLE of Vista Grande avenue. Mrs. Weckerle is Past Regent of the Court St. Mary's, Daly City, and is now the Vice State Regent of the Catholic Daughters of America, Archdiocese of San Francisco.

Hillcrest Circle No. 143 U.A.O.D. really had a meeting last week. They had nomination of officers with MRS. ANGIE SERENI nominated as Arch Druidess, MRS. MAY BAKER as First Bard, and MRS. "MAMA" LOMBARD as Second Bard. Then there was initiating of new candidates followed by their mad hatter party. That really topped the evening off! Those hats were really out of this world. MRS. DOLLY BRUSH walked off with the first prize for her creation and MRS. LEOLA BEDELL ran a close second. Too bad pictures weren't taken so that we could have had the fun of seeing the creative instincts of these gals.

News and Views

The OLPH Mother's club had a giant Stanley party last Wednesday at the school auditorium. The ladies who were in charge of this affair really must have worked very hard as the turnout was amazing. Of course all the ladies know what a Stanley party is and just how much fun can be had at one of them.

Congratulations should go to MRS. PEG HANSON who, I understand, is their publicity chairman, and to MRS. VIRGINIA STANLEY for their hard work in this undertaking. Of course as one and all know it takes more than two people to put anything over so congratulations to all who worked so hard. Of course they had as an incentive the benefit of the school and that is all it takes for mother's to work

Daly City has a new citizen this past week. MR. and MRS. E. BERTELLI of Bepler street welcomed a new baby girl into their family. The young lady, whose name is DOROTHEA LYNNAE, tiped the scales at 8 lbs., 1 oz. She will undoubtedly get the utmost of attention as she has one older brother and three older sisters. Congratulations to the Bertellis on their new baby from all the neighbors.

More news of the illness of one of the old timers. MR. JEROME DILLON of Knowles avenue has been ill for the past two weeks. While he is still confined to the house he is improving and it is sincerely hoped by all his neighbors that we will be seeing him soon. The Dillons are some of the few remaining really old timers left and also more of those neighbors who always have a nice smile and a cheery word whenever they see you.

There have been reports turned into the teachers that some of the children who take the buses to school are arriving too early and causing some confusion. Mothers, the bus drivers are doing the best job that they can in transporting our children to and from school each day. They can only take so many children each trip and each child is assigned to a certain bus at a certain time. It is up to us to see that they are there on time but not too early so as to be there when other classes are leaving. The drivers really would appreciate our co-operation. This is a very responsible job and the men are hand picked so let's help them to help our children. How about it, neighbors?

One and all can tell that MRS. GRACE HILL who has been feeling, shall we say—not too good, is o.k. now. Grace who is the Grand Treasurer of the Grand Lodge of Druids has just returned home from a trip to Los Banos where she attended an official visit. She says that the trip was most enjoyable and she is glad that she is able to get back on her schedule again.

Servicemen

As one and all know I have been asking the neighbors to write to any of the fellows that they know whose names appear in this column. Seems that quite a few have done just that. P.F.C. ALBERT D'ISEP of the U. S. Army, who gets his copy of the paper through the courtesy of THE RECORD, writes that he recognized lots of his buddies by reading the paper. He now writes to them and they write to him. Albert is in the Anti-aircraft Artillery as a radar operator. He is at present stationed at Fort Lawton, Washington, and has also been made a licensed radar operator.

The Evans family of San Diego avenue had welcome company last week when their son, Dentalman GEORGE T. EVANS arrived home for a ten day leave. George has been changed from the S. S. Gen. Randall to the S. S. Gen. Breckengidge and spends his time fixing teeth between the United States and Japan and Korea. At least the boys won't have to worry about a toothache on their way home with George aboard.

Fireman RICHARD E. NEGHBERBON of the U. S. Navy was heard from last week. He is still aboard the destroyer U.S.S. Hopewell and at the present time is getting all set for departure. The Hopewell and Richie leave about the 27th of October for faraway places and will be gone until approximately June of next year. He hopes to get home for at least one weekend before he goes but when in the Navy one never knows. Bon Voyage, Richie, and don't forget to write.

P.F.C. JACK ZUGAR, son of the Vista Grande avenue Zugars, paid his folks a surprise three day visit last week. Jack, who has been in the service for a year has spent the last eight months at Fort Lawton, Wash., in the Anti-aircraft Artillery.

A/2c THOMAS J. McNULTY who is stationed in Japan was heard from this week too. He has been there since August and expects to remain there until next April. Tom, who is a radar mechanic, really has an incentive to get home as he would like to see his new daughter. He says the weather is now beginning to get very cold and he would trade his home at Kussa, Japan, for one in Daly City any day.

There is one anxious member of the Air Force. A/3c BOB HANSON who is stationed at Biloxi, Miss., as a member of a sea rescue squadron, has a very good reason for his anxiety. His wife expects a baby any day now and Bob can't get home until Christmas. There is one bright note though. When he does return to his base, his wife and baby will go with him. Who wants to bet that the service won't seem quite so bad when he has his family with him?

PVT. GEORGE CONSTANTIN has been home on a fifteen day furlough from the U. S. Army. After his fun is over he reports to Camp Stoneman for overseas duty. He, like so many others, is leaving on a guided tour of Japan. While home he has been practicing his marksmanship by going deer hunting. Which would you choose, neighbors, the deer hunting or the guided tour of Japan?

PVT. RICHARD BLACKBURN of the U. S. Army is at Fort Ord, Calif. He is attached to the motor pool and finds the work interesting. His mother, MRS. HILDA BLACKBURN, hopes to see him at Christmas but like so many others can't be sure.

There is going to be a party in "our town" tomorrow night. SEAMAN RONALD DICKINSON of the U. S. Navy is coming home! Doesn't that last sentence sound swell? His family and friends are getting together and will be ready with the biggest welcome that they know how. All the neighbors are glad to hear of the happiness of the Dickinson family and a welcome home to Ronnie from all of them.

Items of Interest

The Eagles Auxilary 1848 gave a birthday party last week for MISS KATHLEEN BRUSH. Kathy is the baby of the Eagles and there were twenty-four youngsters there to help her celebrate the occasion. She received many nice gifts from the members and pictures were taken for the Eagle's baby book. This book will be a record of Kathy from one year until she grows up. Kathy also has a certificate designating her an honorary member (life time) of the Auxiliary.

Trips are still being taken by the neighbors. Heard from MRS. ANN INGERSOLL this week who is on a trip to the Islands. She an dher husband, LYAL, sailed on the Lurline and her biggest worry is that her seasick pills won't work. According to Ann, she has never seen so much food served so nicely and at so many times in her life. Can't say as I blame her for not wanting to get sick, huh neighbors.

ELEANOR & FRED HOBBS of Regent street have joined the veteran married group. They celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary last week with a dinner at the Exhibition Fish Grotto and then went to see The Robe. Congratulations from all the neighbors to these two nice people on their anniversary.

MRS. M. GALLIANO of Los Banos avenue had an accident last week. Seems she had finished some canning and was taking some jars to the basement when she dropped one, cutting her foot very badly. She was taken to Junipero Serra hospital where stitches and blood transfusions were needed. After remaining overnight she came home and is now able to be up and about a bit with it, although it is still quite sore.

MRS. PHYLLIS MILLER had a birthday last week. She celebrated the occasion with a party attended by her family and many friends to wish her happiness. Happy Birthday, Phyllis, from all the neighbors.

MR. and MRS. DAN STEVENS added a new member to their family last week. They already have one little girl so the addition of a little boy really evened things up and made one and all most happy. Congratulations to the baby and his family from the folks.

Well neighbors, keep the news coming and I will get it out for you. Thanks to all those who called and I'll be listening for PL. 5-6482 to ring again. Remember you make the news—I just write it up for you. 'Bye now.

This is an annual event by the Legion Auxiliary to raise funds for their community service work. Everyone who likes "good eating" is invited to attend this affair. There will be dancing following the dinner.

James L. Snell Parents Learn Of Accident Prevention In Home

The 140 parents who attended the second regular meeting of the James L. Snell PTA on Wednesday, October 14, found out a great deal about accidents in the home.

Dr. George Bates, a well-known bay area pediatrician who has many Broadmoor children as patients, spoke about such accidents, and warned parents of unintended carelessness about leaving medicines in reach of small children, keeping gasoline about the house as a cleaning solvent and many other similar instances. A leaflet was passed out listing the most prevalent situations in the home where accidents might occur.

Dr. Bates also discussed the usual symptoms of polio and its contagiousness, and, in answer to questions from the floor, covered several other subjects. Many mothers found the opportunity to ask about things which had bothered them, and many were glad to have some definite facts to guide them in caring for sick children.

In addition to Dr. Bates' interesting talk, all the room mothers from Garden Village and Benjamin Franklin schools were introduced by Mrs. Kathryn Hurst, chairman of the committee. They were:

GARDEN VILLAGE SCHOOL: Kindergarten — Mrs. Shields, teacher; Mmes. Joan Dean, Betti Cheda, Evelyn Murphy and Virginia Duane; Kindergarten—Mrs. DeBerry, teacher; Mmes. Mrs. Shields' morning kindergarten class won the prize for the most parents atending the meeting. After various committee reports, refreshments were served by the hostesses for the evening—Mmes. Bennet, Alexander, Hahn, Guz, Johnson and Hrushka, assisted by Mrs. Peggy Merchant, hospitality chairman. Many thanks were due to the first grade mothers who contributed the sandwiches and pumpkin pies. The table decorations were beautiful; pumpkins and candles and all the October colors reminding everyone that fall is really here, with Halloween just around the corner.

DALY CITY RESIDENTS, Mr. and Mrs. Lyal Ingersoll, are shown enjoying their Hawaiian surroundings, bright sunshine and days filled with sightseeing and social events, all of which made their island holiday a "real thrill." The Ingersolls joined a large Shrine group from their area, and after a twelve-day tour of the islands, left Honolulu for the return voyage on Monday. They were guests at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel. Ingersoll, a general contractor, is chairman of the Jefferson high school district Board of Trustees.

Westlake Cubs In Tour Of Air Plant

The first activity of Cub Pack 248, sponsored by the Westlake Improvement association, was a tour of the United Air Lines plant.

This event was held Friday night, and was enjoyed by 25 boys and 14 parents. An interesting half hour of colored film showing the beginning and ending of a flight from San Francisco to Los Angeles was shown. The group was divided into groups of eight with a guide showing them through the plant.

There will be a pack Halloween party at the club house October 31. This will be an evening of fun with games and prizes. All cubs are asked to wear costumes.

November 14 is the date for a paper and rag drive and all the cubs are asked to start saving these items now so that it will be a big success.

School Structure Explained

Capacity Crowd At Crocker PTA Meet Hears Talk On District By Weibel

The Crocker school library was filled to capacity with parents and visitors at the recent meeting of that school's PTA.

H. Z. Weibel, elementary district superintendent, spoke on the structure of the school system from janitor to superintendent.

Entertainment was provided, along with refreshments and all those present reported an enjoyable evening.

A short business meeting was conducted, resulting in agreed participation in the forthcoming March of Dimes. The group voted a $3 donation for the blood bank, in lieu of 30 dozen cookies.

Mrs. John J. Eckert, president, announced plans for the bazaar to be held December 4, and called attention to the items on display which were being prepared for the bazaar. Mrs. Eckert also told the PTA of the annual CCPT meeting to be held in April, 1954. She then presented the program chairman, Mrs. George Freeland.

Mrs. Freeland introduced Weibel, his wife and his brother, as well as Mr. and Mrs. William Cheatham. Mrs. Cheatham is a member of the school board.

Weibel addressed those assembled on the general topic of "School District Information," and answered questions following his talk.

Weibel also told of the acquisition by the school district of three lots adjacent to the Crocker school which will be used as a site for the "urgently needed" multi-purpose room.

Following Weibel's address, the PTA was entertained by talent from the school. Billy Reynolds played, "How Much is That Doggie in the Window," on the piano, Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," accompanied by Eugene Grant.

The finale was furnished by Grant accompanying pupils of his fourth grade class while they sang three numbers.

The following students took part in the singing: Colleen Ayers, Horace De Amador, James Blackburn, Linda Cargain, Vicky Foster, Shirley Matison, Diane and Eileen Nowmann, Darlene Hitte, Tim Ramsey, David Sonne, Carol Sciaroni and Elaine Eckert.

Following the program the adults adjourned for discussion over cake and coffee and the children enjoyed soda and cup cakes. Refreshments were supplied by various members of the executive board.

HILLSIDE P.T.A.

The box supper was a new venture to the Hillside PTA last Thursday evening, climaxing the membership drive. Mrs. Pauline Bertetta is the membership chairman of the unit. Members are still needed and parents are urged to join, to help support the unit, as the Colma school is such a rapid growing school and is still growing.

Mrs. John Hiller was the chairman of the box supper event. It was held at the Community Center in picnic fashion, on blankets laid on the floors. Tree foliage and shrubs were the decorations with a round flower bed in the center with huge dahlias donated by Mr. and Mrs. S. Mollette. Fred Bertetta opened the evening by introducing the vice-principal of the Colma school, Wm. Tergis, who auctioned the supper boxes.

Entertainment for the evening was given by Joe Grado, an accordionist, who rendered vocal selections and duets with George Carlson. Wm. Tergis entertained with his able speaking. Community singing ended a very happy evening, accompanied by Joe Grado.

People of this community are urged to remember the United Crusade drive. Support it with your donations.

REC LEAGUE GRID TEAMS SHOW POWER IN SATURDAY GAMES AT MARCHBANKS

The recreation department football league opened Saturday at Marchbanks park with a surprise show of power and scoring ability by all of the teams.

The Colma Steelers, led by Dick Joy and Charles Bridges, used reverses, screen passes and a potent passing attack to roll up 44 points in beating the Colma Redskins 44-6.

Led by tailback Paul Tapia the Colma Eagles scored 33 points to defeat the Colma Jugs 33-13.

OLPH's fighting pig-skinners scored their first league victory by defeating the Colma Rams 26-2. OLPH won with passes from Ed Coleman to Ed Murphy and Joe Stagnero.

The teams will resume play 10:30 a.m. at Marchbanks park tomorrow in the second game of the five game league. The top leading teams at the end of the league will pair off for a semi-final playoff and championship early in December.

S.F. GATORS HIT ROAD TOMORROW FOR TOUGH EVENING AGAINST CHICO 11

San Francisco State's Gators hit the road for the first time this year as they meet Chico State tomorrow (Saturday) night in Chico.

After winning the first two, Coach Joe Verducci's Gators fell before California Poly's strongest team in history last week, 46-14. This was the fourth victory for a Mustang team which has whipped Fresno State, 27-6, San Diego State, 33-12, and Santa Barbara, 59-6.

Another tough test lies ahead for San Francisco. Chico has lost only to Nevada, while whipping the S. F. Presidio, Cal Aggies and Southern Oregon.

Chico's George Maderos, one of the finest all-around athletes on the Pacific Coast, has received strong support from a flock of outstanding Junior College transfers. Coach Ernie Busch, who developed Northern California's strongest high school team in his last year at Merced, is in the second year of his building program at Chico. Quarterback Hal Higgins and Halfback Frank Ferraiulo, who transferred in from the powerful Yuba J. C. team, have helped considerably.

San Francisco's Maury Duncan, third in the nation among total yard gainers for small college throwers last year, will lead the Gator attack. Duncan has completed 39 out of 77 for 597 yards in just three games this season. Against Cal Poly, he tossed for 260 yards.

The Gators have a collection of small, fast backs. Dick Nave, voted most valuable in the homecoming game against Chico last year, should be ready after missing two weeks because of a broken hand. Harry Bremond, named most valuable in State's first two games this year, divides the right halfback job with Nave.

Both boys are compact at 5-6 and 160 pounds, both cut surprisingly well and drive with authority. Rudy Smith, fastest back on the club at 170 pounds, will go at left half. There is a three way battle at fullback between veteran Dick Storm, Walt Gomes and Jim McElroy, another outstanding transfer from Yuba.

Guard Don Slates, from Willows High and Yuba J.C., will captain the team against Chico. Slates, very agile at 180 pounds, teams with Jess Jones to give the Gators a strong guard combination.

Bob Foote, a 210 pound tackle who transferred in from Pacific and Roy Nonella, a fast improving sophomore from Mendocino, man the tackle spots.

Ends George Wehner, fast and tough at 185, and Tony Fardella will receive most of Duncan's tosses

San Mateo Jaysees Football Team To Play Night Game

San Mateo Junior College plays City College of San Francisco in a conference football game Saturday night on the Sequoia high school field. Starting time is 8 p.m.

Both teams have lost their conference opener, San Mateo losing 32-7 at Sacramento last Friday and San Francisco losing to West Contra Costa. San Francisco recently tied Los Angeles City College 19-19.

Sunday afternoon, athletic officials of the Big Seven Conference met on the San Mateo JC campus to settle upon a permanent system of scheduling grid games in the future so that different schools could arrange extra games with non-conference opponents on a two-year basis. The group also decided that future grid practice would start about Sept. 7, giving a team the chance for two practice games before the conference schedule started.

DC LIONS TAKE OVER KEG LEAGUE

The Daly City-Colma Lions took over undisputed first place in the Daly City-Colma bowling league Tuesday night, but their efforts were overshadowed by Ralph's Cleaners, who knocked off all individual honors for the evening in taking three straight games from former league-leader Daly City Eagles.

The local Lions captured a pair from Pearson & Rector to give them a 12-6 seasonal mark and put them on top of the heap.

Ralph's three-win performance, the only one of the evening, moved them into a tie for second in league standings with Lombardi's and Vince & Fred's, all with 11-7 records.

The local Eagles, formerly tied for first with Lombardi's and the Lions, were shoved down the ranks into a tie for fifth with three other aggregations.

Heading the activity next week will be the set-to between the first-place Lions and the Vince & Fred outfit.

Ralph's Cleaners won high team game, 948, high team series, 2694, and their star performer, Al Wright, swept high individual game and high individual series with scores of 236 and 624, respectively.

Frank Thur of Thur Meat was runner-up for individual game, rolling a 235.

LOCAL LINKS TALENT IN LM PLAY TOMORROW

The team of Art Linhares, Daly City cop, and Dick Eichler, has been established the odds-on favorite to lead the field in the Lake Merced Golf and Country Club two-ball invitational tournament which begins tomorrow (Saturday).

The Eichler-Linhares duo pairs off against Henry Timbrook and P. Wilkins tomorrow in the first round of play.

A total of 15 teams are entered in the tourney.

Roland Petrocchi, chief of the local police, will pair with Ernie Melmon against Dr. Bob Thompson and Bill Hoelle, orange juice magnate of the Bing Crosby kingdom.

Councilman Jim Kennedy and John Thomas will face Mat Palacio Jr., former state amateur titlist, and Ed Haber.

Bill Kennedy and Joe Huber will meet Bill Honig and Gene Brown in another contest featuring local talent.

Cereghino Picked As Starter For Majors-Minors Fray

Ed Cereghino, famed "bonus-bay" pitcher from Daly City signed by the New York Yankees after graduation from high school a few seasons back, has been selected as the starting pitcher to oppose the Major league All-Stars in Sunday's charity Majors vs. Minors basebal game at Seals stadium.

Last year while in the Class A Eastern league Cereghino racked up a 11-3 won-lost record, and allowed only slightly more than two earned runs per game.

The local lad will be up against such "names" as Ferris Fain, Jerry Coleman, Dee Fondy, Billy Serena and many others.

Proceeds from the game go to benefit homeless children of the Bay Area, and is sponsored by the Alameda Elks.

INDIANS OF NEW MEXICO

Over a thousand years ago, according to the National Automobile Club, the Indians overflowed the valleys and topped the mesas of New Mexico leaving remains of dwellings, irrigation systems, and pictographs on the cliffs that may be seen today.

JEFFS LARRUP WILLOW GLEN RAMS · 27 to 0

The Jefferson High school Indians gained their first league win of the year Friday, as they defeated the Willow Glen Rams of San Jose, 27-0.

Sparked by Ray Rosa's 100 yard ramble in the third quarter, the Indians enjoyed one of their better days on the gridiron.

Rosa's run came when the Rams were threatening in the third quarter, having the ball down on the Blue and Gold's five yard stripe. The Willows, planning to fool the Daly City's secondary, tried a pass, whereon Rosa intercepted it in the end zone and went all the way, with Jim Minor and Ed Gallagher's down field blocking helping pave the way.

The Indians lost the toss and kicked off to the Rams. The San Jose boys surprising the Jeffs, had the pigskin deep in Indian territory before the Injuns could get organized. Don Delbon, alert on defense, grabbed a Willow Glen fumble on his own 12 yard line and the Indians took over.

Ed Gallagher, leading the way on offense this drive, with 10, 15 and 38 runs, the Jeffs started their first touchdown drive. With the ball down on the five yard marker, Rosa elected to pass to end Jim Minor. Minor, in the clear, snagged the oval shaped sphere in the end zone for the first six pointer. John Gersten's kick was good for the extra point and the Indians were in the lead with a 7-0 score.

Once again in the hole, the Rams were forced to punt, after the T.D. gave them the ball. The Rams offense couldn't get started, and this issue was the point that forced them to punt. Rich Guisti crashed through the Rams' line and blocked the kick and Jefferson's Joe Earnshaw and George Spoulos pounced on the pigskin.

The Jeffs got their second T.D. with Jim Honeywell going over through left guard for the tally. A drive of thirty yards preceded this effort. Jefferson was out with a 13-0 lead.

The first quarter was still in progress when the Jeffs got their third touchdown. The Indians recovered another Rams' fumble on the Willow Glen thirty, and Rosa again decided to pass. Jim Honeywell going through two Ram defenders, caught the pass and went into the end zone. The Indians were now out ahead 20-0.

The quarter finally came to an end, and Jefferson was sitting pretty for the rest of the game.

The second quarter was all defense as neither team could start a touchdown drive. Jack Thur and Rich Guisti shown on defense.

Beginning the third period, it seemed that the game would not start any more thrilling runs for touchdowns or otherwise, because of the fine defense by both teams. Then Rosa intercepted the pass which he ran for the touchdown.

Bill Schwartz was outstanding player of the reserve squad as they took over with the win salted away.

Unusual Telecast Is Slated For This Saturday, Oct. 24

One of the most unusual telecasts in the history of TV coverage of sports will take place Saturday afternoon (Oct. 24) when portions of four college football games being played in different sections of the country will be seen over the national NBC network as the General Motors TV Game of the Week.

The history-making panoramic telecast will include parts of the following games: Princeton vs. Cornell at Princeton, N. J.; Mississippi vs. Arkansas at Memphis, Tenn.; Illinois vs. Syracuse at Champaign, Ill.; and Iowa vs. Indiana at Iowa City.

General Motors announced that the panoramic telecast is designed to afford more football fans an opportunity to see their favorite team in action. Another panoramic telecast of parts of four games is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 7.

Briefly, here is how the panoramic telecast will work:

Each of the four games will be covered in its entirety by a full crew of NBC cameramen. Each game also will be described play-by-play by a gamesite announcer. All four telecasts will be fed into a central station in Chicago, where NBC's Mel Allen and Lindsay Nelson will be ready to correlate the game-to-game switches.

The camera changes from game to game will be determined by game action, halftime and quarter intermissions, and time outs. No special portion of any game is scheduled to be televised, but the chief producer in the Chicago headquarters station will attempt to distribute the telecast as equally as possible among the four games scheduled.

Big League Stars To Play Oct. 25 At Seals Stadium

Among the major league stars who will be competing are:

General chairman Johnny Vergez said, "This is only the start of what we hope will be one of our finest rosters of major league stars since we inaugurated this charity game back in the 1920's."

The game is sponsored by the Alameda Elks, and has been played in Oakland since its inception. The 1953 game marks the first appearance in San Francisco. Proceeds of the game go to homeless children of the bay area.

Legion Commader Invites Veterans To Join Local Post

"Only Americans on guard tonight."

This was the watchword given today by Commander John Matzek of the Daly City Post No. 410, American Legion.

In appealing to American war veterans of this community to join the ranks of the Legion, Matzek issued the following statement:

"Through the bitter vigil of Valley Forge echo those immortal words of George Washington, "Only Americans On Guard Tonight."

"O'Malley, Smith, Christian, Rubenstein and Garcia; names like that. They were there. 'All Americans' in every sense of the word. They lasted through the long siege. Cold and hungry, dog tired and war weary yet as dependable as the dawns early light.

"These men who loved America so much—were our first veterans. Eight wars have been fought since those days of 1778.

"The American people have demonstrated their confidence in the American veteran. It is a confidence fully justified. It reflects the realism, loyalty and leadership of the men and women who served our Nation with a respect and zeal for our free institutions.

"The greatest veterans organizations in the world today is The American Legion. It has achieved that position through the war tested enrollment of 3,000,000 three-war veterans dedicated to a program of positive Americanism.

"Your local American Legion Post No. 410 is in the midst of its enrollment campaign for 1954.

"Consider this your personal invitation to join a great outfit.

"Mr. Veteran, when a local Legionnaire knocks on your door—accept his invitation to join The American Legion—a bulwark of strength in our community, state and nation.

"Join The American Legion — everybody's 'All American' Team."

PACK 63 WILL MEET TONIGHT FOR POW WOW

Not ten little Indians, but 26 Indians of Pack 63 will hold a Pow Wow at 255 Vista Grande at 8:15 p.m. tonight. This Pack meeting is sure to be a howling success, according to the leaders.

The Cub Scouts created their own outfits and hope to be the most ferocious Indians ever. A tepee, totem poles and a ceremonial fire will lend realism to the theme, Indian Summer.

The September 25 Pack meeting unveiled the newly acquired equipment. Bright American, Pack and Den flags sparked the background. The "Stairway of Achievements" emphasized the "Cubbing Trail." As a Cubscout receives an award, he moves up a step on his way to Scouting.

Francis X. Murray acted as Cubmaster. All the Pack officials were introduced. Den 6 won the "den doodle" for the neatest inspection. The film, "Fundamentals of Scouting," was reviewed.

This event was followed by a social, September 30, with 18 mothers enjoying the get-together. Parent participation was stressed. Cub Scouting is essentially a family group with enjoyment and activity for all.

The committee meeting of October 15 finished the budget plan by ordering a "Boy Life" subscription for each Cub Scout. It also provided insurance coverage for Pack 63, Cub Scouts and officials.

FIRE PREVENTION TALK IS GIVEN TO WOODROW PTA

A talk on fire prevention and safety by Captain Melvin Hanson of the Daly City fire department highlighted the recent regular meeting of the Woodrow Wilson PTA.

One of the important facts, he noted, was that the entire student body of the school could be evacuated in exactly 30 seconds. A sidelight coinciding with Hanson's talk was a program in which Mrs. Pless' third grade displayed posters on fire prevention, after which they sang a song.

At the conclusion of the membership drive there were 396 new members. The drive has ended but new members are still welcome the PTA announced.

The annual PTA bazaar will be held on November 20 in the multi-purpose room. Those wishing to donate anything for the bazaar, or who wish to do sewing for the event, should contact Mrs. Milton at PL. 5-3619.

The Halloween party will be held next Saturday, October 31, in the multi-purpose room at the school. More details on the party will be announced next week.

never talked to anybody who knew what happened to them."

"No," said the new passenger. "I never heard of the place. I don't even know where Dutch Harbor is."

"I thought you said you were stationed three years in Alaska," I said.

"No. I said I spent three years in the last one. Not Alaska. I was in Europe."

"Oh," I said.

"I drove a truck over there," he went on. "The red ball express. They put me in transportation because I was experienced. I'm still trucking."

He was well started now and leaning forward toward me, obviously filled with the urgency of communication. He wanted to tell me about the trucking business. Since I had opened the conversation I felt obligated to listen.

He was going to St. Louis, as was I, only farther. He owned two trucks and was rushing to meet one of them there. He drove the other one himself and it had broken down in some little town in Iowa. With the truck he would meet in St. Louis he would drive back and change loads, then get the broken one repaired.

"I've got a blown cylinder but I'll have it leaded up," he said. "Then I'll turn it in on a new truck. It ought to last another few hundred miles."

"You mean it will break down again?"

"Sure, but somebody else will own it by then. I've put three hundred thousand miles on it now. It's time I got a new one."

"How about the other guy?" I inquired.

"He'll probably go bankrupt. It's tough but it's either him or me. It happens every day. Little truckers are being driven to the wall all the time. Especially the ones who try to start out with used trucks. You got any idea what it costs to start trucking on your own?"

"No," I said.

"Take ten thousand for the down payment. Then a thousand for license plates and reciprocities. Another three thousand for insurance and financing the payments, to the finance company. Then you're just barely started. You got to have a lot of cash to pay fines too."

"That's a lot of money," I said.

"There's a lot of money to be made," he replied. "Of course we go broke once in a while. But we always keep all our other assets in our wife's name. That way you can start over again when you go bankrupt."

"I should think it would be pretty hard to get credit once you've gone bankrupt."

"On the contrary," he said. "It improves your credit. You can only go bankrupt once every seven years. The truck companies know that. "They're glad to sell you a $35,000 rig because they know you'll have to keep up the payments the second time around. It's not the payments or the finance companies. It's the railroads that are trying to ruin things."

He sang this theme song about the railroads forcing the small owners off the road for some time while the Missouri scenery rushed past. I don't remember all the details and naturally I didn't take any notes. In fact, after awhile I wished he would lapse into silence and let me relax, for I had to half-turn in my seat while he was talking to let him know I was still listening.

"Take this load limit law," he explained. "The railroads are behind that. They influence the legislatures.

"For instance, in Pennsylvania the load limit is 16 tons. If you're over they fine you $53. But you can't make money hauling 32,000 pounds of steel when your rig will carry 50,000 easy.

"So we overload and take a chance. We pay the fines if we're caught. You can pay two or three fines and still come out ahead.

"Then we have signals among ourselves. When the highway patrol sets up a scale, all they get is the first man going east and the first one coming west. After they get weighed, they give us the office all down the road. Three long blinks with the lights completely off if it at night. And in the daytime a hand signal like this."

He illustrated, holding his hand palm up like he was lifting a heavy weight.

"Why do you think truckers all eat in the same restaurants?" he continued.

"Because the food is good," I hazarded.

He shook his head.

"Because we get the lowdown on road conditions. Did you know we got to keep a log book to show to the patrol?"

Naturally I didn't know.

"We all keep two logs," he said. "One for the inspectors and one for our own records.

"Suppose I'm driving from Columbus to St. Lou. It's four-fifty miles and the best I can do it in, without stops, is ten and a half hours. But the law says we can only drive ten hours at a time in twenty-four. And if my log shows I made it in ten hours, then they got me for speeding. We aren't allowed to average more than 33 miles per hour in this state.

"That's why we keep dummy logs. The railroads are trying to put us out of business. They're even trying to stop trip leasing now."

I didn't encourage him by asking what trip leasing was but he told me anyway. Trip leasing, he explained was a sort of subcontracting by which the independent truckers get their business. They pick up a load in one town and drive it to another, then unload and get a trip lease for still another destination. Like tramp steamers they are often a long time away from home.

"If they abolish the trip lease it will ruin us for sure," he said. "The big boys put a lot of the small, non-scheduled airlines out of business that way. But they won't lick us. They got the money but we got the brains.

"Yeah, I'm sure worried about that load I got sitting by the side of the road up in Iowa. But I'll have it transferred by tomorrow. Then I'll trade in my junk heap on a new rig.

"You think it was tough during the war? Brother, you ain't seen nothing. You ought to try a year or so of independent trucking."

There was a lot more but this puts over the idea. Truck-driver Bill Dugger impressed me as a symptom of our times. He was just another little man having a hard time to retain his independence in the face of the increasing consolidation of business.

And the next time I get stuck on a hill, breathing fumes from a diesel job, instead of getting indignant I'll try to remember Bill and that bus ride from Moberly to St. Louis.
